

Students' Freedom of Expression

Freedom of expression is a right guaranteed by the United States Constitution. Students have the right to express themselves in accordance with law; however, expression that materially and substantially interferes with the educational process, threatens serious harm to the school or community, encourages unlawful activity, or interferes with another individual's rights is prohibited.

The Superintendent is authorized to establish regulations to insure compliance with law.

Adopted: November 24, 1969
Revised: September 26, 1994
Revised: February 22, 2010
Reviewed: March 20, 2012
Reviewed: April 12, 2018