

Student Teachers

The Superintendent shall accept a limited number of student teachers from the following approved colleges and universities: Immaculata College, West Chester State University, Eastern College, Drexel University, University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State University, Cheyney State University, Cabrini College, Villanova University, Bryn Mawr College and other local colleges.

The Director of Personnel shall work out mutually satisfactory agreements with approved teacher-preparation institutions relative to a student teacher program.

The following guidelines will prevail:

1. In so far as possible, student teaching in any one school shall be limited to a program so that no student in that school will be subject to the instruction of more than one student teacher in any school day.
2. No one teacher shall be continually responsible for student teaching. In so far as possible, the cooperating-teacher obligation shall be rotated among the experienced members of the staff. At the elementary level, the responsibility for serving as a cooperating teacher shall be rotated among team members eligible for such service.
3. Manner of reimbursement for providing teacher preparation institutions with student teacher services varies with each teacher preparation institution.

The District provides no reimbursement to student teachers for transportation to or from the school district.