

TESD Reopening Survey: Key Findings

- Of the 4,016 students represented in the survey, 64% are currently attending school in person and 36% are currently fully virtual.
- Overall, 75% indicated a willingness to return to school in person with less than six feet of physical distance and 25% indicated they would participate in fully virtual instruction.
Elementary School: 79% In Person, 21% Virtual • Middle School: 76% In Person, 24% Virtual • High School: 70% In Person, 30% Virtual
- Of the students represented in the survey responses who are currently attending school in person, 95% indicated a willingness to return to school in person with less than six feet of physical distance and 5% indicated they would switch to fully virtual instruction.
- Of the students represented in the survey who are currently attending school fully virtual, 40% indicated a willingness to return to school in person with less than six feet of physical distance and 60% indicated they would remain virtual.
- 25% of students represented in the survey responses who would be willing to attend school in person with less than six feet of physical distance would not be willing if it required a change to their child's schedule and/or teacher.